These bonds were of the class issued in exchange for the state debt proper so-called, but the figures at which they were disposed of were the highest brought for any of Tennessee's bonds for many months. The gentleman who gave this information has but recently returned from New York city, where he was at the time the legislature passed the act to authorize ainst this act, as they regarded it as indication that the Republican ald, if they got into power, try to winsettle the present settlement, and they regarded it the safest policy to let this alone. This gentleman reminded them that Judge Reid, in the late canvass, had opposed any uprooting of the present settlement, although denouncing it, and had pledged himself to stand by it. He said further to a reporter that they stated that their conporter that they stated that their con-idence in Tennessee bonds would be much stronger but for the opposition of the Republicans to the borrowing act. This Years Tobacco Crop.

New York Tobacco Leat.

A few weeks ago, owing mainly to protracted cold weather, it looked as y if the tobacco acreage would this summer be materially curtailed. Added to the restricting influence of unseasonable weather, dull markets and low prices tended to encourage the belief that in all the producing States there would be a diminished planting. Recent favorable changes of temperature, and information showing that, apparently, stocks are not in excess, but rather under than over the usual requirement, have inspired growers to devote about the same space to tobacco this year that they did last year.
